

News Release

HOYA Corporation Announces Sale of HOYA Digital Solutions Business

Tokyo – November 18, 2021 - HOYA Corporation has entered into an agreement to transfer the shares of its wholly owned subsidiary, HOYA Digital Solutions (HDS) Corporation to FUJIFILM Business Innovation Corporation, a company that provides office solutions and support for digital transformation. Founded in 1985, HOYA Digital Solutions is an independent IT services company that helps to modernize systems and provides professional and technical support to customers and clients from both the manufacturing and medical device industries.

Some key services provided by HOYA Digital Solutions include implementation services for Microsoft Dynamics, RPA implementation and AI solution assistance for manufacturers, and technical support for SAP and e-Commerce businesses. HDS currently has offices in Japan and Thailand.

The share transfer is scheduled to take effect on January 1, 2022.

-END-

About HOYA Corporation

HOYA Corporation is a global technology and med-tech company and a leading supplier of innovative high-tech glass and medical products. HOYA is committed to becoming a leading company in niche markets through creativity and innovation. As part of this philosophy, we continue to research and develop quality products utilized in the healthcare and information technology fields. Founded in 1941 in Tokyo, Japan, HOYA has over 150 offices and subsidiaries worldwide and currently employs a multinational workforce of 37,000 people. For more information, please visit <http://www.hoya.com>.